The range aims to offer restaurateurs and their clientele a high quality product, thanks to the guarantee of the Berio Method which defines the Classic and 100% Italian products of the extra virgin range. It is also a way of letting consumers taste a product that offers sustainable, traceable and certified quality guaranteed by a strict production protocol which is based on integrated farming principals. A path to quality from field to bottle which is certified by an authoritative third party, SGS, the guarantor of the entire Berio Method supply chain. The range consists of practical, refined bottles of 250ml and 500ml fitted with anti-refill caps that are essential for reassuring the consumer of the quality of the product. Another important feature of the extra virgin table range is the special Toscana PGI, a must-have for those that wish to offer their clientele a characteristic product which is popular with consumers.
